

Centre for Peace and Reconciliation Studies

CPRS

MA Maritime Security

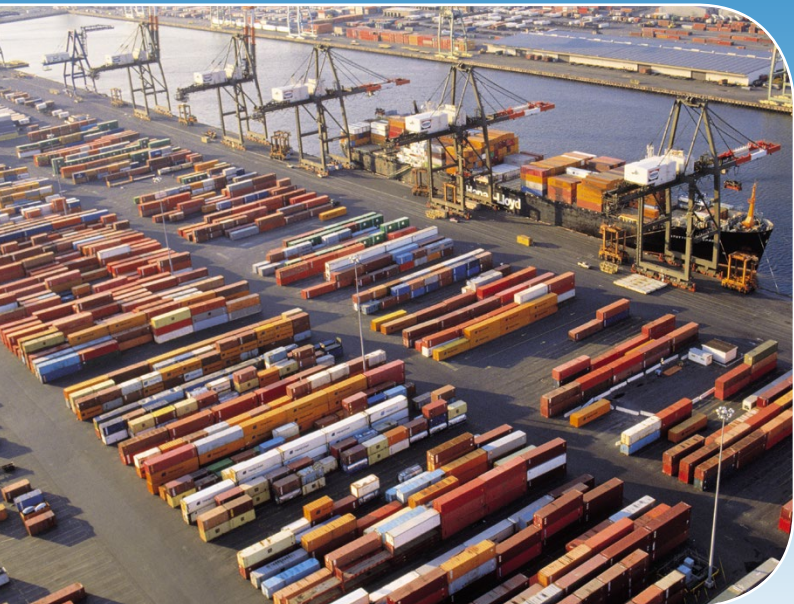

The online MA in Maritime Security is designed to enable middle and senior managers in a wide range of fields related to maritime security such as shipping, the security sector, law, insurance, development, international relations and diplomacy, to acquire an MA qualification in 1 year.

Why maritime security?

A deeper understanding of maritime security can help us to better understand global security. Activities at sea can, for example, give us a glimpse in to wider power politics and serve as an additional case study through which wider security threats such as terrorism can be examined. Beyond this, a nexus between land and sea means that a deeper knowledge of maritime security provides new insights for those interested in maintaining security ashore.

Why CPRS?

CPRS has over ten years of experience studying conflict and peace. Our emphasis on applied research ensures that our teaching is shaped by insights gained from working in the field. Alongside this we have a track record of delivering engaging and highly interactive distance learning programmes.

Indicative Structure

Accreditation of
Prior Experiential
Learning' (APEL)

120M credits.

Workshop 1
(January)

Theory and Practice of Maritime Security

Topics include:
Maritime/Human Security
Nexus,
International Law of the Seas,
Modern Piracy and
Port Security.

Workshop 2
(June)

Dissertation
(12,000 words)

The confirmed structure will be communicated to participants in the programme handbook. Alongside the intensive workshops, participants interact with tutors by moodle, skype and email. Entry requirements include, but are not limited to, English language skills to the level of IELTS 6.5 or equivalent.

“The maritime industry faces a significant challenge in terms of its professional development the ability to reach a broad international audience in such a way that operational and corporate commitments are not put into conflict.

The Online MA in Maritime Security, structured appropriately, allows executives and seafarers around the world alike to benefit from the knowledge and experience within the university community in a way that has been traditionally limited from them due to their responsibilities and other logistical factors.”

Allan McDougall - President
International Association of Maritime Security Professionals

An IAMSP recognised programme

This MA programme is officially recognised by the International Association of Maritime Security Professionals (IAMSP).

Participants on the programme have the opportunity to gain a professional qualification from the IAMSP recognising their continued professional development.

Full details about eligibility and the structure of the professional qualification will be made available to participants once the MA programme has commenced.

MA Maritime Security Online
Credits	Duration Full Time	Cost (UK/EU)	Cost (International)	Intake
180	1 year	£9,000	£9,000	Dec 2012

How to Apply

You can apply online or download an application form

Visit: www.coventry.ac.uk/cprs

Call: +44 (0)24 7765 9058

Email: james.malcolm@coventry.ac.uk

We invite you to learn more about CPRS and will be pleased to answer any questions you may have.

Centre for Peace and Reconciliation Studies
CPRS

Coventry is centrally located with superb links to the rest of the UK. 15 minutes to Birmingham International airport by train, 60 minutes to London by train.